BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THIS PROGRAM

Accounting students at Woodhaven High School will master the accounting cycle during the first two trimesters through class work, computer activities, games, electronic field trips, and a variety of supplemental materials.

The final trimester will focus on completing a project that will place students in control of running the books and records of a business. This simulation will enhance analytical, decision making, and critical thinking skills.

SPECIAL FEATURES OF THIS PROGRAM

Students will be encouraged to participate in Business Professionals of America to showcase their knowledge and develop leadership skills.

Annually, students in the past have attended the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants Student Leadership conference.

In the past students were invited to participate in the Adrian Jr. Project ran by IRS Special Agents. The day long project allowed the students to use forensic accounting skills to help solve a crime.
